New Army Emergency Relief (AER) Process

On 17 Mar 2025, Army Emergency Relief (AER) launched a new online AER Portal for eligible recipients to use when seeking AER assistance. The Soldier's unit leadership is still integral to the overall process, and Soldiers should discuss their needs and application with their company/battery/troop First Sergeant and Commander. If a Soldier cannot use the portal, they can still use the traditional method by going directly to their unit leaders to get started. Deployed Soldiers' spouses should contact the unit's rear detachment or local AER office. Eligible Family members outside a 50-mile radius of an Army installation should contact the American Red Cross at 877-272-7337 for assistance.

AER is prepared to provide financial aid to selected ranks of active-duty Soldiers, their Families, and other eligible recipients. Assistance depends on Soldiers' needs and repayment of these loans will be made through payroll allotments. As the official nonprofit of the U.S. Army, AER assists more than 30,000 Soldiers and Army Families annually and supports well-being by alleviating financial stress and promoting economic stability.

More AER Information: www.armyemergencyrelief.org or <https://aerprod.powerappsportals.us/>

AER can rapidly provide zero-interest loans to Soldiers for essential household needs in times of difficulty. Financial assistance is offered first to Soldiers E-1 through E-6 and their Families. AER will assist other ranks by exception based on their financial situations. When a Soldier is approved for assistance, funds will be transferred rapidly via Zelle or within 24-48 hours by direct deposit.

The Soldier's company/battery/ troop leadership must validate the Soldier's circumstances and determine the appropriate dollar amount for an interest-free AER loan. The AER loan amount will be based on an assessment of the immediate needs of the Soldier and their Family.

The new portal offers several functions. In addition to applying for assistance, you can: make a donation, either through an allotment or a one-time donation; make a payment on an existing loan, through e-check, credit card or PayPal; view your loan/grant history; take the financial literacy exam; and submit inquiries. As shown on the portal, AER is all about 'Helping the Army Take Care of Its Own' and is committed to Army Families.

South Carolina National Guard IG Information

The SCNG IG office is conducting unit visits to introduce ourselves to units, cover what the IG system does for Soldiers and Airmen, dispel any myths, and address current trends so unit leaders can be forearmed in tackling them. Please note these are not inspections and we endeavor to brief all the way down to the company level. We'd like to integrate into your drill schedule and can brief any audience, however, leadership from PSG and above has been our traditional focus, though we'll brief the whole unit if a CDR so desires. If you are a unit smaller than a company and would like a brief, please just ask. The JFHQ office will brief the SCARNG less the AAMDC. The AAMDC IG staff will support the AAMDC unit visits. For more information call (803) 299-7244 (SCIG) or email ng.sc.scarng.list.igsc@army.mil.
